

Connecticut Early Childhood Cabinet

OVERVIEW OF THE NEW CABINET

MYRA JONES-TAYLOR, PHD
COMMISSIONER, OFFICE OF EARLY CHILDHOOD

Former Cabinet

The Early Childhood Cabinet looks to provide an aligned system of early childhood education delivery in Connecticut. To achieve this goal, the Cabinet has articulated four priority areas:

Quality Data Systems

Early Learning Standards

Family Involvement / Home Visitation

Professional Development / Workforce

Addressing these four priorities will assist Connecticut in meeting the responsibilities of the Cabinet as stated in the Head Start Act of 2007.

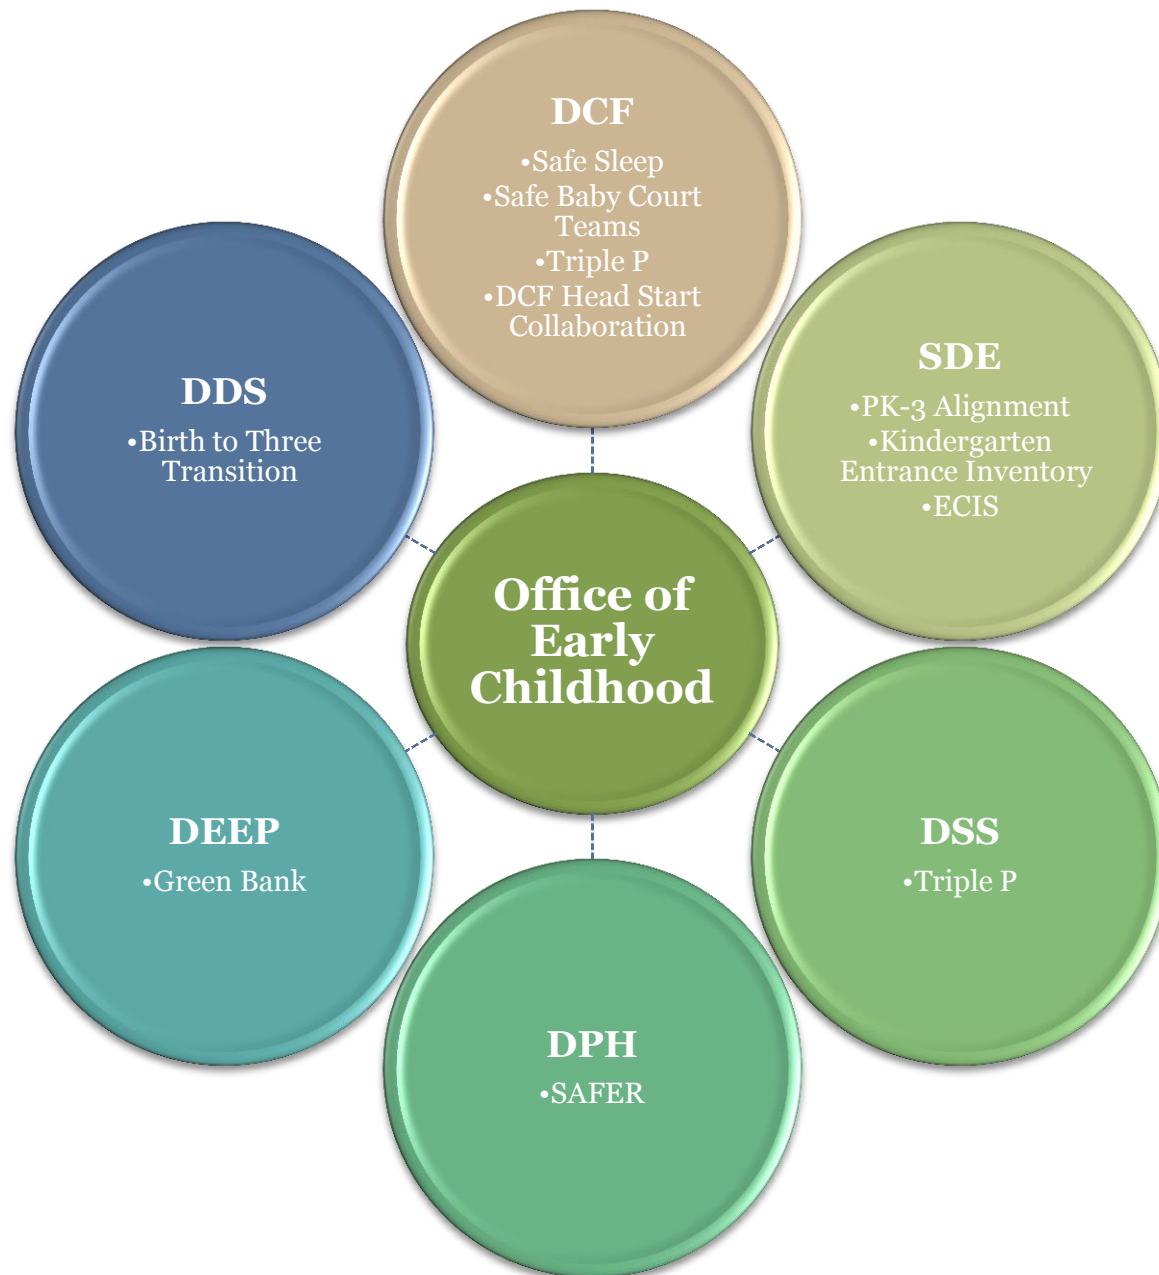

As of June 2012, three additional priority area work groups have been formed:

Health Promotions

Public/Private Partnerships

QRIS

Also please be sure to visit the Project Director's page for news, updates and general information regarding these priority areas.

Our Challenge

- In 2014, there were 1,260 families who were literally homeless in CT, including 2,128 children
- Homeless children
 - More likely to have moderate to severe acute and chronic health problems, and less access to medical and dental care
 - Three times the rate of emotional and behavioral problems, such as anxiety, depression, sleep problems, withdrawal and aggression
 - 54 percent of homeless preschoolers had a major developmental delay (e.g. language, gross motor, fine motor, social) compared to only 16 percent of their housed peers
- More than 80 percent of mothers with children experiencing homelessness have previously experienced domestic violence, and their children are more likely to have emotional and behavioral problems

The Problem

FOCUS ON THE ADULT

Employment
and Job
Training

Domestic Violence

Housing

Financial Support

Child Care

Impacts on the Family

Separation

Instability

Impacts on Child's Development
and Health

Violence

Stress

Family Ho

CURRENT TRENDS

According to U.S. Departm in families experiencing between 2005 and 2009 homelessness in America released the results of th prolonged recession betw rise. The number of Amer just one year.² At the sam

Faced with limited option overcrowded apartments households are not captu schools experienced hom has been increasing since the increase.⁴

The average family exper at least one of whom is u lessness have previously

Family Homelessness in t at a Point in Time, 2006–20

Source: U.S. Department of Housing and www.hudhre.info/index.cfm?to-view=C02

*NOTES Affordable units have gross includes rent and tenant-paid utilities occupied units that the AHS defines rent. Units rented but not yet occup

The Plan

Opening Doors: Federal Strategic Plan to Prevent and End Homelessness sets the goal of ending homelessness for families in ten years. Families need affordable housing, sustainable employment, and community services to help them avoid or quickly exit homelessness. In order to reach this ambitious goal, all partners at the federal, state, and local levels, as well as the private and nonprofit sectors, must be engaged and focused on proven solutions, especially in these four key areas:

1. Provide Affordable Housing

The Plan seeks to expand affordable housing opportunities through improved targeting of current housing programming that provides rental subsidies as well as an increase in construction of new or rehabilitated housing.

2. Increase Meaningful and Sustainable Employment

Programs designed to connect people to employment must also consider the particular needs of those who are experiencing homelessness rather than creating barriers to access and support. Best practices must be implemented and employment strategies must be coordinated with housing and other interventions to provide workforce training and guidance for job seekers experiencing homelessness.

3. Reduce Financial Vulnerability

While many families experiencing or most at risk of homelessness are eligible for federal programs providing health care, income support, and work support, surprisingly few people access the full range of programs and services available to them. Enhanced public information and improved access to services are key.

4. Transform the Homeless Crisis Response System

Given the documented success of the Housing First model— an intervention that assists participants to move quickly into permanent housing with support services needed to achieve and maintain housing stability— communities that retool their crisis response systems with a focus on prevention and rapid re-housing will achieve greater success in reducing homelessness among families.

...we see the family.

Two-Generation

The Two-Generation Continuum

Collective Impact Model

Common Agenda

Shared Measurement

Mutually Reinforcing Activities

Continuous Communication

Backbone Support

Goals

- Align policies across agencies
- Increase collaboration
- Shared efforts around outreach, training, data, measurement, etc.
- Develop policy and legislative plan by November 2015